TORONTO (August 2, 2022) – Four successful candidates have been selected to participate in the 2022 Level UP Program in partnership between Access Reelworld, Citytv, Shaftesbury, and Pope Productions. Now in its second year, the Level UP Program offers paid job shadowing opportunities to racialized equity-deserving communities, including Black, Indigenous, Asian and People of Colour with Citytv's #1 original scripted hit series Hudson & Rex. Two writers and two directors are preparing to go to Newfoundland to gain on-the-ground experience on set and in the writers' room of Hudson & Rex, currently filming its fifth season.

The Level UP Program is a step towards creating more access and inclusion for Black, Indigenous, Asian and People of Colour in the television industry. The creation of this job shadowing opportunity allows the participants to get the necessary credits and experience that leads to more work and ultimately a diverse, equitable, and inclusive industry.

Over 100 candidates applied from across Canada who identify as Black, Indigenous and People of Colour. Ryan Atimoyoo (British Columbia) and Saleema Nawaz (Quebec) will enter the Level UP Program writers' stream and learn the collaborative ropes of a writers' room on the set of Hudson & Rex for four weeks. Joining the directors' stream are Reza Dahya (Ontario) and Latonia Hartery (Newfoundland), who will be immersed in day-to-day interactions with the series' directors and production crew. Each shadowing opportunity will take place between August and December 2022.

The 2022 Level UP director's stream participants are:

Reza Dahya is a South Asian director from Toronto, ON. Dahya is known for his work as a host and producer of OTA Live on FLOW 93.5FM Radio. He is an alumnus of the Canadian Film Centre's Directors' Lab. Dahya's film credits include, the short film Esha (2011), the crowd-funded Five Dollars (2013), which premiered at the TIFF Kids International Film Festival, screened internationally, and aired on CBC Television, and Chameleon (2015), a CFC short film created in conjunction writer Chris Cromie and producer Josh Ary. He recently secured Canadian distribution for his debut feature length film, Boxcutter, through Game Theory Films, with the aim to shoot in Toronto the summer of 2023.

Latonia Hartery is an Indigenous writer, director and producer from Milltown, NL, currently residing in St. John's, NL. She is an experienced documentary filmmaker who has written and directed CBC Land and Sea episodes such as Rum Running, and Last Sardine Outpost, as well as production managed, and line produced six other episodes for that series. She has also directed longer form TV documentaries, such as the hit series Keeping Canada Alive. Her production skills were honed on CBC's award-winning DocZones. She has written and directed several short films, including the award-winning Sadie, as well as Escape Routes and Wind Money. She recently produced the RBC Michelle Jackson Award-winning film Crocuses (2016). She is currently producing her first feature.

The 2022 Level UP writers' stream participants are:

Ryan Atimoyoo is an Indigenous screenwriter and filmmaker from Little Pine Reserve, SK, currently residing in Vancouver, BC. He holds an MFA in Screenwriting from UBC and is a recent grad of the Pacific Screenwriting Program. He recently completed a role as a script coordinator for the Netflix original superhero crime-action series, Grendel, based on the award-winning Dark Horse comic book series.

Saleema Nawaz is a South Asian writer based in Montreal, QC. Her most recent novel, Songs for the End of the World, became an instant national bestseller and was named a Book of the Year by the Globe and Mail, Quill & Quire, and 49th Shelf. She is also the author of the novel Bone and Bread and the short-story collection Mother Superior.

"We are excited to be returning with this opportunity again this year. Last year through the program we launched four careers in this industry, and one of our participants got hired onto the show for the season! - At the end of the day that is why we do programs like these. Getting experience, credit and paid is key to leveling up our racially diverse talent."

"Shaftesbury believes in supporting underrepresented Canadian talent, in front and behind the camera. We are proud to be partnering with Reelworld to continue this work. Last year's inaugural program was a great success, so much so, one of last year's participants, JJ Neepin, is returning to direct one episode of Hudson & Rex Season 5. We look forward to meeting this year's participants, and discover a new wave of talent," said Shaftesbury Chairman and President, and Hudson & Rex Executive Producer Christina Jennings.

"The Hudson & Rex cast and crew are excited to work with this year's new crop of Level UP participants and further our partnership with Reelworld," said Lisa Porter, President of Pope Productions and Hudson & Rex Executive Producer. "Hudson & Rex is seen worldwide and it's important that our team reflects our audiences."

In 2021, the participants of the Level UP Program were Nauzanin Knight, Mark Harnett, JJ Neepin and Adrian Wallace.
